

As we all familiar with ongoing pandemic situation in the world right now, caused by “Corona Virus”. We all have stuck in our homes, some of us have all the facilities available so that we don’t have to suffer in this situation. The virus is not just taking lives of infected people but also who are not infected. People from middle class and lower middle class are finding hard to survive in this , they don’t have food to eat , some of them have lost their jobs due to recent lockdown , many of them don’t even gather enough to feed their family but thanks to all those organizations and individuals who are helping those needy families and those who are asking for help but not everyone have guts to ask for help and this leads to many suicides that recently happened. The pandemic has brought us many bad things but good things as well and has given us time to learn something new, but we always need to remember the dark side of this and help needy ones, so this is the new world as i see it.
